"[A]lthough the Universal Declaration on Human Rights proclaims that all human beings are born free and equal, it is evident that the enjoyment of all human rights diminishes with age, owing to the negative notion that older persons are somehow less productive, less valuable to society and a burden to the economy and to younger generations."

ABOUT THE CAMPAIGN

- The celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) in 2018 offers a great reminder that human rights do not diminish with age!
- Ageist attitudes lead to the marginalisation, poverty and abuse of older people and have negative impacts on their health and well-being.
- Ageism is everywhere, but we tend to deny its negative effects, we do not consider it as serious and harmful as other forms of discrimination and we fail to take action to counter ageism.

From 1st October 2018, International Day of Older Persons to 10th December 2018, 70th anniversary of the International Human Rights Day, we are organising a 70-day campaign against ageism

- Our objective is to raise global awareness of ageism as a human rights violation that affects everyone in society as we are all getting older.
- Joining this campaign you can become part of an active global community that has united on a large scale to show what ageism is and why we need a bigger focus on ageism to ensure equal rights for all ages.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT AGEISM

Ageism is the stereotyping (how we think), prejudice (how we feel) and discrimination (how we act) against people on the basis of age.

Ageism is highly prevalent worldwide and according to research it may now be even more pervasive than sexism and racism. Ageism remains unchallenged in society largely because it is socially accepted and entrenched in our culture and institutions.

Ageism has serious consequences both for older people and society at large. For example, ageism leads to the abuse of older people in care setting but also creates barriers to the development of effective and inclusive policies.

Countering ageism requires changing the way we think, feel and act about ageing and older persons.

LET'S CHANGE THE WAY WE THINK, FEEL AND ACT TOWARDS OLD AGE AND CREATE A SOCIETY FOR ALL AGES!

KEY MESSAGES OF THE CAMPAIGN

- Ageism affects everyone.

Tip! Stop thinking about older people as different. Older people are not a group set apart; ageing is a continuous and normal process that concerns everyone. Do not talk about older people as 'they' instead reflect on how ageism affects 'us'

- All members of society are equal regardless of age
- Ageism is embedded in laws, policies, institutions, culture and individual behaviour and affects the equal enjoyment of all human rights in old age
- Disserving the needs of older people is a form of structural ageism.
- Providing services and support for the older generation is a right and an investment, not a cost.

TIMELINE OF THE CAMPAIGN

The campaign will last 70 days, starting on the 1st October 2018, which is the International Day of Older Persons and ending on the 10th December 2018, which marks the 70th anniversary of the International Human Rights Day. Each of the 10 weeks of the campaign is dedicated to a specific theme in order to illustrate the widespread effect of ageism and how it affects different groups in society.

Each week we intend to include several contributions/perspectives:

- Specialised organisations (EU equality networks, NGOs)
- Testimony by individual, NGO or project
- Expert/Polycymaker (UN, WHO, FRA, CoE, academic)
- National perspective (NHRI, government, national NGOs)
- Role of European parliament (link with campaign on EP elections)

HOW TO GET INVOLVED IN 5 EASY STEPS

1. Prepare a short blogpost or video that will be included in the dedicated blog (accessible from AGE website) and will be shared through various social media platforms

Each post should:

- be between 100 and 200 words or alternatively be a video message of maximum 2 minutes
- be sent at the latest 1 week before its foreseen publication date
- include testimonies and examples of how ageism works based on your experience/work with your communities
- suggest ways to fight ageism (this could include action you have taken, plan to take or action that can or has been taken by others, such as governments, NGOs, EU, UN, etc.);
- if possible, include photos, pictures and additional resources or links to relevant work.

Examples of message to include in your contributions:

There is no typical older person. Older age, like any other time in life, involves both challenges and opportunities.

Not all older people are frail, just like not all older people are healthy and active. In reality only a small proportion of older people need care and support in their everyday lives. We need to take into account the diverse experiences of older age.

Older people make valuable contributions to society through work, volunteering, consumer spending and caregiving. According to research in the UK older people contribute more than the public expenditure required to cover their pensions, health and long-term care needs.

Research shows that enforcing mandatory retirement does not create more jobs for young people. Instead, society misses out from older workers' abilities and experiences.

Older LGBTI face multiple discrimination when they try to access health and long-term care due to implicit biases based on age and sexual orientation.

The European Parliament should pay more attention to how ageism is experienced by older migrants.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS (FAQs)

Why are we launching this campaign?

To create a society for all ages, we must confront ageism. Because we have been exposed for too long to negative messages about old age, we do not recognize the ways in which we fail to treat older people as equals. Age serves as valid justification for disadvantaged treatment in the form of age limits that exclude people from health treatments, services, benefits, training, credit and employment, among others. This makes ageism the last acceptable form of discrimination. The time has come to challenge age-based restrictions that undermine human rights in old age.

This is a project that does not only concern the large and constantly growing older population, who as the UN Independent Expert on the rights of older persons said, are ‘waiting for their human rights to become a reality’, but every one of us, as we will all one day grow old.

Why are we launching it now?

The celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) in 2018 offers a great reminder that human rights do not diminish with age. The World Health Organisation (WHO) is currently undertaking a global campaign to combat ageism. Global attention on age equality is increasing as the UN is reflecting on the adoption of a new international treaty. The African Union and the Organisation of American States have adopted binding instruments to better protect human rights in old age. The Council of Europe has also taken note of the ways in which older people’s rights are at risk in two recent recommendations. And for the first time the European Union Fundamental Rights Agency has published a report stating that ‘too often we overlook the basic human rights of our older people’. Yet, we tend to deny the effects of ageism and not consider it as serious and harmful as other forms of discrimination. We all share the collective responsibility to take action against ageism and now is the perfect moment to draw attention to the injustice that we will all face.

Who is behind this campaign?

AGE Platform Europe, the largest European network promoting the rights of older persons, has developed the ‘Ageing Equal’ campaign and this guide. We have partnered with civil society organisations, experts and other actors in Europe and across the world to help spread the word about the campaign and share experiences of ageism from different groups in society. You may see the full list of supporters at [\[blog’s url\]](#).

AGE Platform Europe is supported through EU funding part of which has been used to work on this campaign<sup>1</sup>.
